

Mississippi

State Motto is: By Valor and Arms

Prophetic Name: A State in the Valley of Decision

The Strike Force Prayer Team went to Vicksburg, MS as part of the Earthquake Dominion assignment in May. There we met 3 women who had prayed previously with James Nesbit and we had a tremendously powerful time in worship, repenting for the sins at the port and breaking the judgements. We had been encouraged by a dream God gave Emily to buy staves for our trip and the Lord appointed our steps so at our first stop at a convenience store, they had 4 matching staffs we used for the trip. We were able to put all of our staffs in the port water before Gloria blew the shofar. How the Lord connected us to the women was over a breakfast at the hotel. They asked us how long we would be staying in Vicksburg and we said just a few hours. When I explained the prayer assignment to the young lady who waited on us she brought the chef out to meet us. When she got off work, we went to the museum of the history then she took us to the port.

Chuck Pierce and Dutch Sheets Prophecies: Dutch Sheets proclaimed that " Mississippi is at one of the greatest crossroads of any group of people that I have ever ministered to in my life...This state, your destiny, whether you move on in the Lord, you are so in the balance. There is something about this state right now that is very important to the Lord. And the Lord is really raising the bar for Mississippi." Chuck Pierce said that the meaning of Mississippi is "father of waters." God wants to break the orphan spirit of Mississippi and raise up the apostolic mantle. I am bringing a gathering anointing in this state. The isolation on you will break. From this you will see much fruit come forth."

The Lord is getting ready to open the womb of Mississippi. And the Lord says that the womb of the barren will have more than the womb of the . . . the Lord is getting ready to open the barren womb of Mississippi. And the Lord said that the womb has been barren since the Civil War. I don't understand this, but the Lord says that the barren women will have more than the womb of the righteous, that He is getting ready to bring forth many, many, many, many, many children out of Mississippi. The Lord says that you are to watch over that Word. So, Lord, we just thank You Mississippi is getting ready to bring forth many, many, many, many, many, many children.

This Prophecy began to be fulfilled when the Supreme Court ruled that Roe v. Wade was unconstitutional.

Mississippi ranks #43 in the education and #49 overall for healthcare, economy and opportunities. It is a state that needs a Revolution of the Lord to come and turn hearts, minds and attitudes along with breaking generational curses going back to the days of servitude and slavery.

Mississippi State Interesting Facts:

The Mississippi Territory was organized in 1798, and it joined the Union as the 20th state in 1817. Through the mid-19th century, slave labor propelled Mississippi to become the top cotton producer in the country. The Magnolia State was the second state to secede from the Union in 1861. The state's location alongside the Mississippi River made it a strategic military location during the Civil War. The state suffered greatly during the war, losing nearly 10,000 soldiers.

The 13th Amendment, which abolished slavery, was ratified after three-fourths of the states passed it in 1865 at the close of the war. While four others eventually passed the amendment, Mississippi did not symbolically and officially adopt it until 1995 – and didn't officially notify Washington of the vote until 2013.

The state was a battleground during the civil rights movement of the mid-20th century. In 1962, violent riots broke out on the "Ole Miss" campus when James Meredith, a Black Air Force veteran, attempted to integrate the all-white state university. In 1963, he became the university's first Black graduate.
